

Floersheimer Center for Constitutional Democracy

at Cardozo School of Law

Student Fellows

The Center designates two Floersheimer Student Fellows each year. The Fellows, who receive a modest stipend, perform legal research and provide other support for the Center's projects.

The Center also provides financial support for student activities that are consistent with the Center's overall mission. For example, in recent election years, the Center has supported students engaged in poll-watching through organizations such as Election Protection and Just Democracy. The Center also provided a stipend to a recent Cardozo graduate clerking in the office of the prosecutor at the United Nations' International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia and funds several public interest stipends each summer. Cardozo students seeking financial support for an organization or for an individual internship or other project should contact the program director.