

Cardozo Intellectual Property and Information Law Colloquium

In the Spring 2020 semester, Professor Michael Burstein will teach an advanced Intellectual Property and Information Law Colloquium. Cardozo Law School will host six distinguished intellectual property and information law scholars to discuss their scholarship with faculty, practitioners, and a select group of Cardozo students enrolled in the course. For those students who are selected, the Colloquium offers an opportunity to engage deeply with cutting-edge scholarship and participate in discussions with faculty from Cardozo and elsewhere.

The six distinguished scholars for Spring 2020 are:

February 10	Carys Craig, Osgoode Hall Law School, York University
March 2	Margot Kaminski, University of Colorado Law School
March 9	Camilla Hrdy, University of Akron School of Law
March 23	Jake Linford, Florida State University College of Law
April 6	Neel Sukhatme, Georgetown University Law Center
April 27	Sarah Wasserman Rajec, William & Mary Law School

Students enrolled in the seminar will meet weekly on Mondays, from 4:00 p.m. – 5:54 p.m. The visiting scholars will present papers during six class sessions. In the class session prior to each presentation, Professor Burstein will discuss with the students the paper to be presented, together with relevant background materials, in a conventional seminar setting. These “pre-presentation” sessions will provide students with the background necessary to engage with the speaker and give students an opportunity to develop skills for constructive interrogation and critique of scholarship.

During “presentation” sessions, the visiting scholar will present her work, and the students will then take the lead in the workshop, critiquing the paper and asking questions of the presenter.

Fellows may choose to register for the Colloquium seminar for either two credits or three credits. All students will write short comments for each of the papers presented, which will be shared with the visiting scholars. Students will also write a seminar paper on a topic of their own choosing, with the three-credit option requiring a more substantial paper (>30 pages), comparable to a student note. Either the two-credit or the three-credit paper may be used to satisfy the writing requirement.

Enrollment in the Colloquium is by application only. Students will be selected based on a combination of academic achievement, relevant experience, and a demonstrated interest in exploring intellectual property and information law scholarship. The application described below must be submitted by 9:00 a.m. on Wednesday, November 27. Selected students will be informed by 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27.

Eligible Students: Second- and third-year J.D. students, and LL.M. students
Application: (1) Cover sheet (next page, or same info in the body of email)
(2) Law school transcript (cut-and-paste is fine)
(3) Resume

Application Deadline: Wednesday, November 27, 2015 at 9 a.m.

Send Application to: Professor Burstein, via email at: mburstei@yu.edu;
Subject: IPIL Colloquium Application

