

The Future of Native American Mascots in Sports

The recent announcement that Washington's NFL team would drop its mascot is the culmination of years of efforts by activists and scholars to bring about a change. But the change only came once Washington's corporate sponsors decided the time was right. This discussion will address the past, present, and future of Native American mascots in sports. It will draw on insights from Native American scholars, international human rights, and intellectual property law.

This online event is approved for 1.5 transitional/non-transitional New York State CLE credits in the category "Areas of Professional Practice." You must attend the "live" program in order to receive CLE credits. We cannot award CLE credits for watching a recorded version of this program.
