ALUMNI TESTIMONIALS

“My time at Bucerius was intellectually stimulating, culturally fascinating, and incredibly rewarding. Bucerius provides students a curriculum with a global focus, taught by accomplished experts from all corners of the globe, administered by a friendly, immensely resourceful faculty, in a picturesque, intimate, state-of-the-art campus.

Hamburg itself is a vibrant, thriving metropolitan city with more art, cuisine, shopping, sightseeing, and nightlife than one can ever hope to accomplish during their time abroad. I recommend Bucerius to anyone seeking to elevate their legal education onto a global stage in a city impossible not to love.”

(Exchange Student from Cornell Law School, 2012)

“The coolest part of the experience, however, has definitely been sitting in a classroom and grabbing lunch with students from dozens of different countries.”

(Exchange Student from Stanford Law School, 2009)

“We also found time to really experience Europe: Oktoberfest in Munich, Christmas Markets, and weekend trips to other countries!”

(Exchange Student from Northwestern Univ., 2013)

“Enjoying the German culture was a big part of the exchange as well, with friendly German students being great hosts and guides.”

Program participants grow academically by studying at Germany’s most prestigious law school, learning from world-renowned legal scholars, and engaging in legal discussions with fellow law students from some of the best legal institutions around the world. Bucerius is unparalleled within Germany in the strength of its academic program and the quality of its student body. Students can take advantage of the fall career fair, featuring top international law firms and prestigious public interest institutions, and they can attend thought-provoking panel discussions and events on a variety of contemporary legal, political, and cultural issues.”

LAW FIRMS TESTIMONIALS

Dr. André Fiebig, Baker & McKenzie, Chicago

“The Bucerius exchange program offers US law students a unique opportunity to enhance their legal education and training in an international setting. There are very few legal issues in the business world today that do not have an international dimension. Globalization has not only altered the way companies do business, but also the demands imposed on legal advisors. Lawyers can no longer limit themselves to an understanding of domestic law.

The program at Bucerius offers a broad array of courses that integrate seamlessly into the academic requirements of US law schools. Students benefit not only from the high quality of the instruction, but also from the personal and professional contacts which participation in the program inevitably generates. In a crowded legal market, these additional attributes of their legal training give them a competitive advantage.”

Prof. Dr. Dana Beldiman, Carroll, Burdick & McDonough LLP, San Francisco

“Bucerius has had the vision to take legal education beyond its traditional national borders. Its curriculum is geared to prepare young lawyers for their role in our now global marketplace. Its distinguished international faculty and student body from all over the world make this program unique.”
